Realizing the majority of workers are "mobile," companies choose to invest in electronic mail, voice mail, and monitoring systems to foster productivity gains.

Unfortunately, mobile workers are disconnected the moment they leave their work area from vital information needed to serve internal and external customers.

WirelessOffice extends the reach of your existing applications, within and beyond the walls of your office.

It integrates effortlessly with e-mail, help desk, monitoring, network management, security and the Web.

imagine a world with no wires
